

LEGAL MALPRACTICE: RIGHTING LAWYERS' WRONGS

The bike is an '86 Radian

Legal malpractice is a rough and tumble business—not for the faint of heart. Lawyers are a smart, tough and proud (if not wild) bunch, and don't take kindly to being called out. But lawyers are human, and to err is human. That's where RUMMONDS & MAIR comes in.

We represent clients when the best and the brightest have failed them in the underlying case. We handle a broad range of legal malpractice matters from mistakes of big white "shoe" firms in complex business litigation to the personal injury case botched by a solo practitioner. We travel far and wide on referral from local counsel, having taken cases from San Diego to Yreka (and points between).

Managing partner, Jim Rummonds is board-certified in the specialty of legal malpractice by the American Board of Professional Liability Attorneys (ABPLA) and as a civil trial lawyer by the National Board of Trial Advocacy (NBTA). He has been AV-rated by Martindale-Hubbell since becoming eligible in the mid-'80s, and is one of five lawyers featured on the state bar's Web site as a board-certified legal malpractice specialist.

The rest of our team is equally impressive. For more information on the firm, see
